Approach to reducing the investment unit and associated policies

1. Approach to reducing the investment unit

Kraftia recognizes that reducing the investment unit is an effective way to encourage broader participation in the stock market among investors, which in turn enhances stock liquidity and revitalizes the market.

2. Policies going forward

Kraftia will continue to carefully study the feasibility of reducing the investment unit while taking into account future trends in the stock market, the share price level, stock trading conditions, changes in the number of shareholders and shareholder composition, and other relevant considerations.
